Someone is looking for a history of the area—I can't remember who now! ☺ But it's probably not the most important thing right now.

I tried to fix a TON of issues on the August 9th update (lots of extra spaces, "the EPA" all over the place, incorrect capitalization, etc), but my changes all got wiped out by someone else who was in the page at the same time.

So, I want to make sure that we're not in any pages concurrently, for sure!

Two links I found last night that are worth checking out.

First is a video posted by Navajo President Begaye showing the actual site of the release and explaining what he was told happened by a contractor on-site. The video is about midway through the article and begins in Navajo but switches quickly to English.

Second is history of the area surrounding Gladstone, CO and includes some interesting info on the history of the Gold King Mine.
